

Passage Creek Report & Assessment

Potomac Conservancy has recently released an ecological assessment for Passage Creek, a relatively pristine waterway in the northern Shenandoah Valley that has come under increasing development pressure. Partners assisting with this project include Virginia Dept. of Game and Inland Fisheries, George Washington and Jefferson National Forests, Virginia Dept. of Forestry, Virginia Tech, Virginia Dept. of Conservation and Recreation, and more. Potomac Conservancy staff will present the results of this assessment at the Fort Valley Lyceum lecture on September 13, 2008 and unveil a printed Passage Creek report highlighting the assessment as well as the people, places, and history of Fort Valley.
